Adherence to initiatives and best practices:

One of Esmeraldas Santa Rosa's policies is its commitment to the protection and conservation of the environment, using natural resources rationally and efficiently, complying with the implementation of the Environmental Management Plan, based on current environmental regulations, doing this more than mandatory. Therefore, the company has a solar energy project in its operations area and a greenhouse through which it produces seedlings of different species that are donated to reforestation projects in western Boyacá. Safety is also part of the company's policy, which is why it created its own mining rescue point, with all due technological elements to deal with emergencies, focusing on prevention as the best strategy to avoid accidents.

Main achievements in social management

Esmeraldas Santa Rosa created in 2019 the Santa Rosa Foundation, located in Chiquinquirá, with its main area of influence in the municipality of Maripi. It is in charge of executing the company's corporate social responsibility policy, which is carried out through three strategic lines: education and culture, economic and social development, and governance and peace.

Its mission is to promote the sustainable growth of the community of Maripi and the surrounding municipalities through the development of social projects that contribute to strengthening the local capacities of its inhabitants, facilitate dialogue between the community, the State and the company, promote the generation of knowledge and the protection of culture, build empowerment and promote respect for human rights, in order to build a prosperous and peaceful region. Sustainable development is part of its philosophy and therefore governs all its actions, structured in that sense, working for economic and social growth, respecting the environment, and fulfilling its commitments to the State.

Additional project data: The fundamental mission of Esmeraldas Santa Rosa S.A. is to explore and exploit emeraldiferous material, taking into account that its commercialization competitively satisfies the needs and expectations of its clients with a product of the best quality, through technological processes that generate greater profitability, achieving an adequate return for the investment of its shareholders, integral wellbeing for its workers and sustainable development with social and environmental responsibility for the region.
